LONDON, SEPTEMBER 10.

THE great shock which the principal column of the present M-------y has suffered in the rebuff at a corporation, where the hold was supposed to be very firm [at B------d] indicates, most clearly, the increasing weakness of that political fabric; which, in this tottering state, will scarcely be able to bear the strenuous efforts that will be made to overturn it before the end of next session.

SEPTEMBER 11.

Saturday Major Rogers, Governor of Michilimackinac, arrived in Spring-gardens, from America.

SEPTEMBER 14.

We hear that Major Rogers, late Governor of Michilimackinac, who so remarkably distinguished himself during the late war in North-America, has given the most convincing proofs, since his arrival in London, of his innocence, with respect to the late charges maliciously brought against him by his enemies.

There is no doubt but that the meeting of the Emperor of Germany and the King of Prussia, will be productive of some event of great consequence in the political world. One part of the object, it is said, is certainly that of opposing the measures of the French court, in bringing Sweden into a quarrel with Russia. Several couriers have been dispatched both by the Imperial and Prussian Monarchs, to the court of Stockholm, since the departure of the Emperor from Neiss.

By accounts from Bourdeaux we hear, that the person lately taken into custody at Brest, by the name of Lord Gordon, and accused with a design to blow up the fortifications of that city, has given ample proofs of the fallacy of the charges against him, and that the whole transaction was a political stroke, which a short time will explain, not a little to the astonishment of the people of Great-Britain.

SEPTEMBER 19.

Yesterday some dispatches, said to be of importance, arrived in town from Sir Andrew Mitchell, his Majesty's ambassador at the court of Berlin.

By letters from Deal, of the 17th instant, we are told, a small French frigate arrived in the Downs, without lowering his pendant to the King's ships there, in acknowledgment of his Majesty's sovereignty in those seas, tho' Capt. Hollwell, of the Glory, sent an officer on board, to let the French Commander know it was a respect due from, and must be paid by, all foreign ships whatever, in the British seas. The French officer, however, refused to do it, 'till Capt. Hollwell sent the Hawke sloop along side of him, to tell him he must lower his pendant to him, or he would compel him to do it---the Frenchman hesitated---the Hawke fired two shot, and then he lowered his pendant, which was all that passed on the occasion.

SEPTEMBER 20.

Yesterday morning an express was sent off from the Secretary's office, in Cleveland-row, St. James's, for the court of Berlin.

Yesterday morning the Russian ambassador, Count Czernicheff, had a long conference with Lord Rochfort, on the subject of dispatches from Petersburgh.

Monday General Irwin, who arrived on Sunday from the Hague, had a long conference with the Earl of Weymouth, said to be on the subject of a late demand.

Yesterday a new packet-boat was launched at Mr. Randal's dock, at Rotherhith, and called the Sandwich, for the Carolina trade, commanded by Capt. Nottingham.

SEPTEMBER 21.

It is now confidently asserted, that the celebrated Junius is a young gentleman of the Temple, patronized by a certain patriotic northern Baronet.

It is said that the three divisions of marines are ordered to be filled up to the usual complement as in time of war.

We hear orders have been sent to Portsmouth and Plymouth, for all the guard ships to be augmented to their full complement of hands.

Gen. Paoli landed at Harwich early on Tuesday morning, accompanied by some English gentlemen and foreigners of distinction.

We are informed, that the title of Earl of Sutherland has devolved on a grenadier belonging to the 45th regiment of foot, now on the Irish establishment; who, on receiving the agreeable news, immediately set out for Scotland.

SEPTEMBER 22.

It is now certain, that the parliament will not meet for the dispatch of business, 'till after Christmas, and is said to be fixed for the 9th of January.

SEPTEMBER 23.

The expected demand of a passage through Holland for some troops, will be from the French, who are to invade the king of Prussia's dominions, in case he should join with the Empress of Russia, or any how assist the Poles against the Turks.

There is great reason to conclude that an extraordinary number of important negociations are on the tapis, in most of the principal courts in Europe, from the extraordinary number of recalls of their ministers.

On Thursday evening General Paoli paid a visit to the Earl of Rochford, at his house in Berkley-square, with whom he staid near two hours.

We hear a house is taken in Dover-street for the reception of the above Corsican General, and that he will be presented to his Majesty in a few days.

Upwards of 3000 electors we are told have already signed the Westminster petition.

The Earl of Chatham has publicly declared within this fortnight, that certain proceedings, with regard to Mr. Luttrell's election, are illegal, in toto & in parte. But it is an illegality of that kind, which cannot be remedied by the present P-------t, and no other redress can be obtained but by another.

It is confidently said, that a very considerable sum was paid by one court to another at concluding the peace, as indemnification money, which, though not altering the property, evades the nature of a late charge.

A very considerable wager was laid yesterday between two gentlemen at a coffee-house, not far from St. James's, that we should have a war with France before Midsummer day next: But it is to be hoped, the gentleman, who laid it would be so, will lose; for certainly we are not, by any means, in a condition to enter into another war. Besides, to what end and purpose should we commence another war with France? For should we be as successful and victorious in it as we were in the last, (and which would be a miracle) we should most probably be only seventy millions more in debt; for whenever peace shall be made, France knows the way to get all our acquisitions back again. Let us therefore have no new war, till those have been brought to justice who concluded the last peace.

SEPTEMBER 25.

It is said that a petition for redress of grievances may shortly be expected from the free burgesses of Newcastle upon Tyne.

Also that the petitions from the Counties of Gloucester, Worcester, and Wiltshire, will shortly be presented, notwithstanding all attempts to prevent the same.

SEPTEMBER 26.

So earnest are the M-------y to disconcert a petition from the city of Gloucester, that they have dispatched one of their emissaries in order to exert his influence for procuring an address.

The present expectation of shortly seeing the antient custom of frequent parliaments restored, is a great pleasure to the people: The want of an act for the frequent calling of new parliaments was one of the greatest grievances complained of in the reigns of Charles II. and James II. but the ministers were in no haste about it then. In the reign of George I. the life of parliament was extended to the term of seven years, because there had been newly a rebellion, and it was not proper to suffer the people to assemble till their animosities were cooled; but as this reason has long since ceased, the people certainly expect to be restored to their antient privileges of chusing fresh or annual parliaments.

It is imagined by some, that General Paoli's visit to this country is not merely on account of curiosity, or refuge, but to give the necessary information, and consult with the ministry, on a plan for expelling the French from Corsica, in case of any future rupture between them and Great-Britain.

It is reported that a grand entertainment will be given to General Paoli by the city of London, at Guildhall, as a testimony of their approbation of that General's long and noble struggles in defence of liberty.

SEPTEMBER 28.

Yesterday Pascal Paoli, the late Corsican General, made his first appearance at court, and was introduced to his Majesty, who received him graciously, and conversed with him upon various subjects for upwards of two hours; he made a handsome appearance, was dressed in scarlet and gold, attended by a Clergyman and a foreign officer; his person no ways resembles his picture in the print shops.

A correspondent assures us, that the famous Paschal Paoli was exactly forty years of age when Mr. Boswell visited Corsica, in the year 1765, and observes, that it is not a little remarkable, that this patriotic chief will therefore be in his forty-fifth year at the time Mr. Wilkes is released from his confinement.

Yesterday his Excellency Count Viri, the Sardinian ambassador, took leave of his Majesty; the same day a new minister from the said court was introduced to his Majesty, and delivered his letters of credence.

A certain premier has declared, that every measure which shall be adopted in the ensuing session shall be with the concurrence of the D. of B. which has occasioned so many visits being lately made to W---n A--y.

It is publicly said, that a certain great D--- is so exasperated at a late letter of Junius's, that he has offered a considerable reward for the discovery of the author; and has also employed every private engine to accomplish the same.

This morning his Excellency Sir James Grey, who returned yesterday from his embassy at the court of Madrid, had a long conference with the Duke of Grafton.

It is said by the friends of Dr. Musgrave, that his reply, which is expected to make its public appearance in a few days, will fully justify him to all impartial men as to the assertions in his address to the freeholders of Devonshire.

The impatience of the public to see the celebrated Paoli, is so great, that the house where he resides is continually crowded by great numbers of people.

SEPTEMBER 29.

An immense quantity of stores of all sorts, and provisions of every kind, have been contracted for by the two Commissaries at Hull, to be put on board the Russian fleet, as soon as they arrive in the Humber. The trade between that port and Russia, it is said, amounts to above half a million a year.

Yesterday General Paoli was again at court, and introduced to her Majesty, who received him graciously; and in the afternoon he was for some time in conference with their Majesties at the Queen's Palace, before they set out for Richmond.

Yesterday morning several foreigners of distinction visited General Paoli, at his apartments in Bond-street.

SEPTEMBER 30.

Yesterday General Paoli gave a very grand entertainment to divers of the nobility, at his house in Dover-street, at which Mrs. Macaulay, the celebrated historian, was present.

On Thursday evening his Grace the Duke of Grafton paid a visit to General Paoli, at his apartments in Old Bond-street, and staid near an hour. And yesterday his Grace set out on a visit to his Grace the Duke of Bedford, at Woburn-abbey.

The real character and principle of the Corsican chief becomes now doubted amongst the patrons of liberty, as a figure very similar to this modern hero has been observed constantly attending the levee of a noble Earl in South Audley-street.

Letters from Hull in Yorkshire mention, that the Governors of the Trinity-House, have given notice to twenty-four of their pilots, to be in readiness to attend the Russian fleet, which is expected there, and that a sloop is ordered out to sea to look out for them, which is to give the pilots notice when she gets sight of them, and carry them on board.

Yesterday at one o'clock in the afternoon came on the election of two persons to be returned by the livery to the Court of Aldermen, for the Aldermen to chuse one of them to serve the office of Lord Mayor for the city of London, for the year ensuing.

At a meeting of the livery the evening before at the Half-Moon-tavern, it had been unanimously agreed to put in nomination Mr. Alderman Beckford, and Mr. Alderman Trecothick, and a committee of nine was appointed for that purpose. They accordingly signed the nomination, and Mr. Lovell, their chairman, delivered it to the sheriffs. Sir James Hodges, town-clerk, and Mr. Nugent, common-serjeant, objected to the nomination, and produced an obsolete bye-law of the corporation made in the reign of Henry VI. 1514, which imported, that "it was agreed (concerdatum) between the aldermen and commonality, that on account of the heavy burden, the encreased expence, and particular circumstances of those times, no person should be re chosen to serve the office of Lord-Mayor within the term of seven years after his former mayoralty."

The gentlemen of the livery replied, that there were precedents ther what time to the contrary, and particularly, that Sir John Barnard had been re-elected within that term. This was abſolutely denied by the town-clerk and common-ſerjeant, who declared they had ſearched the books, and that there was no ſuch thing; that they had diſcovered only one precedent of a re-election, which ſtrongly confirmed their objection, that of Alderman Parſons, who ſerved the office of Lord Mayor firſt in the 1731, and was re-elected in 1741, at the diſtance of ten years.

Mr. Common Serjeant inſiſted that Mr. Beckford was ineligible, and that the ſheriffs could not ſuffer him to be put in nomination. This altercation laſted a full hour, when Mr. ſheriff Townſend ſpoke to the livery, who were very impatient for the buſineſs to go on; and juſt as he had done, Mr. Bellas brought the city's records forward, and ſhewed to the ſheriffs, the town-clerk, the common ſerjeant, and the livery, the precedent of Sir John Barnard, who after having ſerved the office of Lord-Mayor in 1737, was re-elected to the ſame office in 1740. This was like a clap of thunder to the town-clerk and common ſerjeant. Mr. Sheriff Townſend then told the livery that he thought it his duty to take notice to them of the impoſition attempted to be put upon him and them by their ſervants, the town clerk and common ſerjeant: That, as not ſuppoſing them capable of an action of that kind, he had before given his opinion to the livery on the objection their ſervants had raiſed to their wiſhes, ſo he now declared the objection intirely overthrown.

The common ſerjeant, trembling and confounded, attempted to juſtify himſelf by ſaying, that his ignorance of the precedent of Sir John Barnard could not be wondered at, becauſe it happened before he was concerned for the corporation; that, beſides himſelf, three or four other officers of the city had diligently ſearched the books for precedents.

The nomination then took place; and after Mr. Beckford and the ſeveral aldermen below the chair had been nominated, the ſheriffs declared the ſhew of hands to be for Meſſrs. Beckford and Trecothick. Indeed there was ſcarce a hand held up for any one elſe: And the livery by their ſhouts, and clapping and hiſſing as the names were propoſed, diſcovered very plainly that they knew exactly the characters of their aldermen; and not only gave to each applauſe or cenſure as they ſeverally deſerved, but in the niceſt proportions according to their conduct. A poll was afterwards demanded for Sir Henry Bankes, by Meſſrs. Ellis and Riley.

Petitions for impeachments are ſoon expected from ſeveral parts of the kingdom.

It is beyond a doubt, we hear, that the Ambaſſador of a certain great Northern power, leaves England through a diſagreement in ſentiments with the Britiſh court, reſpecting the war between the Ruſſians and the Turks; but the particular point in diſpute, relative thereto, we are not acquainted with. But thus much we are aſſured, that the French and Engliſh courts are come to a reſolution to take no part in the preſent war between the Ruſſians and the Turks.

By the return of the French troops employed againſt the Corſicans, it appears their wounded amounted to 6397, killed 4324. Since the capitulation of the iſland, by the returns of the hoſpitals, have died 5949. Total loſs of the French troops, dead, 10,273. Still ſick in the hoſpitals 795.

The ingenious and learned Doctor Hay, Doctor of Civil Law, &c. &c. is not expected 'till Thurſday ſe'nnight to return from Paris, where he has been theſe laſt ſeven weeks, on a very important, though very ſecret embaſſy.

OCTOBER 2.

It is ſaid the M------y are determined to exert their whole force to procure Sir Henry Bankes to be one of the gentlemen returned to the court of Alderman for their choice of a Lord Mayor.

We are aſſured, from unqueſtionable authority, that the firſt vacant regiment of dragoons has been for ſome time paſt, promiſed by Ad----------n to 296.

Saturday, diſpatches ſaid to be of great importance, were ſent from his Excellency the Spaniſh ambaſſador Prince Maſſarano's houſe in Great Ormond-ſtreet, to the court of Madrid.

This morning his Excellency Count Czernicheff, the Ruſſian ambaſſador, had a conference with the Right Honourable Lord Rochfort, on the ſubject of very intereſting diſpatches from the court of Peterſburgh.

Private letters from Hamburgh inform, that the Miniſtry of Verſailles have now a maſterly ſtroke of politics in agitation, at a certain northern court, the event of which would, probably, in a ſhort time, aſtoniſh all Europe.

It is reported that William-Henry Lyttelton, Eſq; his Majeſty's ambaſſador at the court of Portugal, will be recalled to ſucceed Sir Francis Bernard, as Governor of Maſſachuſetts-Bay.

On Saturday Colonel Iſaac Barré, and Dennis de Berdt, Eſq; agents for the colonies, received freſh packets of inſtructions from their conſtituents in America.

By a gentleman juſt arrived from Breſt, we are informed, that they are in the greateſt hurry in all the dock-yards, in fitting out a ſquadron of line of battle ſhips, deſtined as was given out, to be ſent as a fleet of obſervation in the Mediterranean.

It is certain that the cauſe between a noble Earl and a popular Patriot, will be heard the enſuing term.

By a perſon juſt arrived from Peterſburgh, we hear there are great apprehenſions of a revolution there, from a jealouſy that the preſent war is a war of the Empreſs's, unconnected with the ſtate; and people in general ſeem to be of opinion there, that the event of it will, in a ſhort time, determine a revolt.

OCTOBER 3.

The Corſican chief will not, as has been reported, pay a viſit to a certain popular priſoner, as, it is ſaid, he has been ſtrongly prejudiced againſt that gentleman, by accounts he has received from a perſon, in whom he places great confidence. And beſides, it is whiſpered, that the miniſtry have bought him off from engaging with the Bill of Rights people, with a penſion.

It is confidently ſaid, and by thoſe who are no enemies to the miniſtry, that as ſoon as the ſupplies are raiſed, and the moſt important buſineſs of the enſuing ſeſſions is nearly completed, the preſent parliament will be diſſolved.

The language of the petition from the city York is ſo powerful, and the terms ſo deciſive, that it is laying the axe immediately to the root; and the miniſtry are greatly chagrined at it, as they know not how they ſhall be able to parry ſo formidable a blow.

OCTOBER 4.

A worthy Baron has publicly declared, that it is his opinion that the allegations in the London Petition againſt a late Paymaſter are true, and when the Livery ſhall be called upon to prove them, that he will furniſh them with proof to ſupport their charge.

We are deſired once more to inform the public, from very good authority, That every thing is amicably ſettled and adjuſted between our court and that of France, relative to the ſailing of the Ruſſian fleet; and we hear it is the determined reſolution of both nations, not to interfere in the preſent quarrel between the Ruſſians and the Turks. This news muſt give great comfort to every ſincere lover of his country, as the great expence attending a war, would naturally occaſion freſh taxes, which every man, who has the leaſt feeling or ſenſibility, would wiſh to be avoided, if it can be done with honour to ourſelves.

OCTOBER 5.

At a meeting of the gentlemen of the corporation, and principal inhabitants of the city of Canterbury, on Friday the 29th ult. it was unanimouſly agreed to preſent a petition to his Majeſty on the preſent ſituation of public affairs, and accordingly one was produced, read, and ſigned by moſt that were preſent.

Tueſday the Right Hon. Mr. Alderman Hatley was again groſſly inſulted by the mob, in Guildhall-yard; and it was with great difficulty, though protected by the two city marſhals and the conſtables, that he got into his chariot without receiving hurt.

OCTOBER 6.

It is ſaid that the Emperor of Germany will viſit England very ſoon.

The reports that Governor Bernard is not to return to America, is entirely without foundation; it being determined to ſend that gentleman back to his government, with an enlargement of his commiſſion.

The Spaniſh naval force, which is uſually diſtributed in their different ports, particularly at Cadiz and Carthagena, is now collected at Ferrol, which occaſions various conjectures.

It is ſaid, that ſince a late alliance, the premier has never put in practice any one plan without the advice and concurrence of his uncle. [The Duke of B——d.]

M. de François, chargé des affaires at our court for France, has, by order of the French court, demanded ſatisfaction of our miniſtry, for the inſult offered to the French man of war in the Downs, by the Hawke ſloop firing ſhot into her becauſe ſhe would not lower her colours.

OCTOBER 7.

At the final cloſing of the poll yeſterday afternoon at Guildhall, the numbers ſtood as follows:

For Mr. Alderman Beckford,	——	——	1967
Mr. Alderman Trecothick,	——	——	1911
Sir Henry Bankes,	——	——	676

This morning at ten o'clock the two new ſheriffs, Townſend and Sawbridge, met on the huſtings at Guildhall, and after examining the numbers on the poll-books, confirmed the ſame as they ſtood laſt night; and on Tueſday next the ſaid gentlemen will make their return to the Court of Aldermen.

It is now currently reported, that ſome very conciliating meaſures have been offered to the three brothers, in which the Cavendiſh family are particularly mentioned, but the propoſal was rejected.

The petition of the county of Glouceſter meets with the greateſt ſucceſs, and is already ſigned by ſome of the moſt reſpectable perſons in that county.

A letter received this day from Hereford informs us, that, in conſequence of an advertiſement for that purpoſe, a meeting was held there on Wedneſday laſt, to conſider of a petition, on the preſent juncture of affairs, when after ſome altercation it was carried in the affirmative, and was prepared, which we are told is full of grievances, apprehenſions, and unaccounted millions.

The petition of the citizens of Briſtol will, it is ſaid, be changed, and one now will be preſented in the manner of that from the gentlemen of Yorkſhire, to beſeech our moſt gracious Sovereign to diſſolve the preſent parliament, not doubting but ſuch a condeſcenſion on his part, will at once remedy our grievances, as it will give his people an opportunity of chuſing ſuch repreſentatives as they could place a proper confidence in, to enquire into ſome paſt tranſactions.

A certain Alderman paid a viſit at Hayes of more than four hours, on the 28th paſt.

A certain Right Hon. Alderman paid ſeveral viſits on the ſame, and two or three preceding days, to ſome great men in adminiſtration.

From the cordial reception of the Corſican chief by the members of adminiſtration, and from the diſtant behaviour of the General to the oppoſers of the miniſtry (even thoſe who were the forwardeſt in promoting the ſubſcription in favour of the Corſicans) it is ſhrewdly ſuſpected that the ſurrender of Corſica was a compact, or point agreed on, tripartite (as the lawyer ſays) between the Dukes de Choiſeul and G——n, and the illuſtrious General, to the late appearance of the French troops in that iſland.

General Paoli having expreſſed a deſire to ſee the ſon of the celebrated Baron Neuhoff, King of Corſica, that gentleman (known and going by the name of Mr. F——ck) has, we hear, been introduced, and politely received.

OCTOBER 10.

This day a Court of Aldermen was held at Guildhall, when the ſheriffs returned Mr. Alderman Beckford and Mr. Alderman Trecothick, for their choice of one of them to be Lord Mayor of this city: Whereupon the court made choice of Mr. Beckford, to be Lord Mayor for the year enſuing.

Yeſterday the Earl of Bute arrived in town from his ſeat at Luton-Hoo.

OCTOBER 11.

A letter from Derby, dated October 5, ſays, "At a numerous meeting of gentlemen and freeholders, a petition for this county and town was ſigned at Cheſterfield yeſterday; and I am told that the petition will be at Derby to-morrow."

Such a ſpirit of freedom appears to be gathering in moſt of the corporations of this kingdom, that at their annual election for new officers, they ſeem determined to make choice of thoſe gentlemen only, whoſe conduct has proved them to be ſteady friends to their country.

Yeſterday after the Supporters of the Bill of Rights had dined at the London Tavern in Biſhopſgate-ſtreet, the committee of correſpondence and contributions made their report of the tranſactions that occurred ſince the receſs of that ſociety.

The aſperſions caſt on the celebrated Paoli (ſays a correſpondent) are as cruel as they are falſe: Is he leſs worthy becauſe he has not viſited the popular priſoner, the female Hiſtorian, and the patriotic Alderman?—It was evidently his intention; but, as he is patroniſed by government, he muſt, while under their protection, entirely adopt the mode of conduct offered for his obſervance.

OCTOBER 12.

On Tueſday Lord Holland ſet out from his houſe in Piccadilly for the ſouth of France, for the recovery of his health.

We hear that the Duke of Grafton, the Earl of Hertford, and Gen. Conway, had the honour of a conference for two hours with his Majeſty yeſterday.

This morning Lord Effingham Howard, who arrived in town from Ruſſia, had a long conference with the Duke of Grafton, at his houſe in Arlington-ſtreet.

So urgent were the livery on Tueſday, for Mr. Beckford to ſerve the office of Mayor, that many of them got upon the huſtings, ſhook him by the hand, and intreated him with great earneſtneſs to ſerve the office.

Yeſterday the ſheriffs accompanied by fourteen other gentlemen of the livery, waited on Mr. Beckford, at his houſe Soho-Square, to requeſt him to accept the office of Lord Mayor to which he was elected; which, after expreſſing his grateful acknowledgments to the livery, he conſented to do.

We hear that a rope-maker in Rotherhithe, who uſed annually to export cordage, to the value of 5000l. ſterling, to North-America, has not, for the laſt two years, ſent thither, to the amount of 500l. and there is reaſon to fear, this branch of trade, among many others, will be irrecoverably loſt to Great-Britain.

A letter from Hull, dated the 6th inſt. ſays. "Laſt Tueſday the Ruſſian fleet appeared off the Holderneſs coaſt, and on Wedneſday pilots from this place got on board, where they weighed anchor and put to ſea; but the wind blowing ſtrong from the eaſt, they were obliged to put back, and are now at anchor at the Hawk, near the mouth of the Humber. The account in the London papers of one of this fleet being loſt at the Scaw, is not true; but a bomb veſſel is come into our road to repair ſome damages ſhe has received. The rendezvous is at Spithead, to which place the admiral is ordered to get with all expedition."

We hear the whole Ruſſian fleet have orders to rendezvous in the Bay of Gibraltar, previous to their voyage up the Levant.

Extract of a letter from Exon, October 6.

"This day the county meeting came on, when Dr. Muſgrave produced a petition, which was read aloud by Major Putt, of the eaſtern battalion of militia, and was univerſally approved of. Mr. Serjeant Glynn, recorder of this city, ſpoke for near an hour, in the moſt ſpirited and Roman-like manner, and was ſeconded by Dr. Muſgrave. Lord Liſburn and Mr. Spooner attended, and having oppoſed the petition, were anſwered alternately by the ſerjeant and doctor.—After the petition was approved of, (together with ſome ſpirited inſtructions to the Knights of the ſhire) Lord L. went out at the back door, to avoid the populace; but being diſcovered, was purſued, hiſſed, and hooted at, from the Caſtle to the houſe he took refuge in.——Spooner, Eſq; was ſerved in the ſame manner. Counſellor Short ſpoke unpopularly; and was hiſſed and ſilenced. John Parker, Eſq; our Knight of the ſhire, behaved exceeding well on this occaſion, by ſtepping forward, and offering his ſervices to preſent the petition to his Majeſty, in which he was ſeconded by the worthy ſheriffs Sir Thomas Ackland, and Sir John Rogers, Bart.—Mr. Serjeant Glynn made a motion, that the thanks of this county be preſented to the freeholders of Middleſex, for their ſteady attachment to the cauſe of liberty, which was unanimouſly aſſented to, and the ſame is ordered to be advertiſed under the name of the ſheriff.

We hear that orders have been diſpatched to the commanding officer of the troops at Boſton, to make a ſtrict enquiry into the affair of the grenadier who was lately reſcued from the conſtables there; and that directions have been given for juſtice to be executed on all who have violated the rights of the civil magiſtrates in that town.

OCTOBER 13.

We hear that Mr. Alderman Beckford is in the ſixty-firſt year of his age.

The noble and ſpirited conduct of Meſſrs. Townſend and Sawbridge on Tueſday laſt, has rendered their names endearing to all well-wiſhers of their country; and the ſheriffs of London are now become the toaſt in the city.

On Wedneſday Sir Edward Hawke had the honour of a conference with his Majeſty at St. James's.

The augmentation of troops on the Iriſh eſtabliſhment, which it is thought will meet with a warm oppoſition, is to amount to 3000.

A letter from York, dated Oct. 10, ſays, "We are informed that ſo great is the ſpirit of the freeholders in moſt parts of this county, for the ſupport of the rights of the electors of Great-Britain in general, that they ſtrive who ſhall be the foremoſt to ſign the petition to be preſented to his Majeſty on that ſubject. By the beſt accounts that have been received, there are 5000 who have already ſigned it; amongſt whom, we are aſſured, are ſeveral members of parliament.

A meeting of the city of Exon is fixed the 24th inſt. to conſider of a petition to his Majeſty, and inſtructions to the members.

At a meeting at Bodmin in Cornwall, the 6th inſtant, a petition was read and agreed to by the majority of the freeholders, and many have ſigned it.

Yeſterday General Paoli ſet out for Portſmouth, Plymouth, Bath, Briſtol, and ſeveral other places.

OCTOBER 14.

Yeſterday Lord Viſcount Weymouth had the honour of a conference with his Majeſty, after breaking up of the council at St. James's.

We hear that the Earl of Harcourt will go again Ambaſſador to the court of France, and is to ſet out ſome this month for Paris.

It is confidently aſſerted, that Gen. Paoli has a penſion ſettled upon him, by the government, of one thouſand pounds per ann.

This morning his Excellency the Ruſſian Ambaſſador had a long conference with both the ſecretaries of ſtate, on the ſubject of advices received yeſterday from Peterſburgh. Immediately after which, his Excellency ſent an expreſs to Portſmouth to the commanders of the Ruſſian men of war there.

Yeſterday a packet arrived at the Admiralty-office from Commodore Spry, commander of his Majeſty's ſquadron in the Mediterranean.

Mr. Beckford's conſent to ſerve the office of Lord Mayor, gives univerſal ſatisfaction in the city, as much is expected from the ſpirit and reſolution of that gentleman towards obtaining a redreſs of the grievances complained of.

It is reported that the ſecond petition of the livery of London will be preſented to his Majeſty the week after next, by the Lord Mayor, Mr. Alderman Beckford, and the reſt of the gentlemen who went up with the laſt, together with ſeveral others who have ſince become members of the Bill of Rights.

A correſpondent ſays, "The London livery, it ſeems, want an anſwer to their petition! ſuch of them that can read, will find one, and, 'tis hoped, to their ſatisfaction, in Eccleſiaſticus, chap. xxxviii. ver. 24. to the end.

We hear that a motion will be made on Tueſday ſe'nnight in the Court of Aldermen, relative to John Wilkes, Eſq; which, it is imagined, will occaſion warm debates there, and is of ſuch a nature, as will aſtoniſh the public in general when made known.

A political writer, in addreſs to his Grace the D. of G——n, ſays, "With whatever regret an affectionate ſubject might behold the tumult that but a few months ago appeared before the palace of the moſt amiable and benevolent of Princes, men of diſcernment well knew that it was the miniſter, and not the Sovereign, that was the object of clamour and diſcontent, and that the people daring to complain of an odious, arbitrary miniſter, is not a crime confined alone to this nation. Had the people in their fury, like thoſe of Madrid, indecently demanded an audience from their Sovereign, and peremptorily hav inſiſtede upon the diſgrace of the miniſter, whoſe odious conduct had forced them to ſuch extravagant proceedings whatever affectionate concern, under circumſtances like thoſe, every dutiful ſubject would have felt for their benevolent Prince, your Grace it is preſumed would have had but a ſmall ſhare of their regret; and as the firſt petition of the city of London, which occaſioned that outrageous tumult, has by your Grace been treated with ſilent contempt, happy if the ſame cauſes do not again produce the ſame effects, for a ſecond petition is now preparing to be brought up; a proceeding ſo unprecedented in a powerful opulent body of men like the city of London, as cannot fail to add to thoſe apprehenſions and diſcontents that unhappily are too univerſal."

It is now currently reported, that Mrs. Macaulay is the author of thoſe ſpirited letters, addreſſed to the Duke of G——n, which the public have been favoured with under the ſignature of Junius.

A letter from Portſmouth, dated Oct. 12, ſays, "Two Ruſſian men of war are already arrived, one of 74, and the other of 50 guns.—The remainder of the fleet is daily expected, for we hear they are in Yarmouth road.

A gentleman, juſt arrived from Nottingham, ſays, that the petition, now preparing at that place, ſets forth in a very ſtriking manner the abſolute neceſſity of diſſolving the preſent parliament.

A company of gentlemen of the city (among whom was Mr. F. a Scotch merchant) lately met at a tavern over a bottle, and the toaſts going round, when, in courſe, it came to Mr. F's turn, he gave Lord Bute, which went about without heſitation. The next gentleman then gave, the Devil upon Lord Bute's back. Mr. F. made ſeveral refuſals; but upon the toaſt-maſter's ſaying, that as he freely drank Lord Bute, he ſhould comply with his toaſt, and if Mr. F. refuſed to drink it, he would turn him out, upon which Mr. F. thought proper to comply.
